At the annual meeting of the Oregon Postmasters' Association held in Portland last week, Mrs. Iva E. Dodd, postmistress at this place, was re-elected treasurer.
The South Dakota passed down the river Sunday. The stately lighter was viewed by the hundreds of sightseers who lined the river banks in the various shady nooks. The Oregon passed down Saturday.
Elmer Hammers, who is employed at the mill, has made arrangements for the erection of a bungalow. B. L. Monish, late of the Pure Food Bakery, has the contract for the work.
Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Smith arrived here this week from Concordia, Kan., and will visit relatives for a short time. Mrs. Smith is a sister of Martin White. The Smiths think of locating at Forest Grove.
Mrs. Lilla Crouse, Mrs. Florence Rotger and Mrs. Irene M. Day, delegates from Misspah Chapter No. 30, O. E. S., to the 27th annual communication of the Grand Chapter of Oregon, held at Portland, June 6, 7 and 8, returned on Friday.
Thursday, June 22, is the last day you can consult Dr. Lowe about your eyes and glasses for nine or ten months, as he goes east early in July to remain that long at least. Don't fail to see him if your eyes need help. Scores of St. Helens references.
Paul Polson, a loader at the camp of the St. Helens Lumber Company, was painfully injured last Friday afternoon when a log ready to be loaded on the cars rolled back and, though Polson jumped, the log caught him, mashing his left foot and breaking several bones in the foot. The injured man was sent to a Portland hospital on the evening train, where, from last accounts, he was getting on nicely.

Mrs. Scott and Mrs. Mary Holland of Scappoose, were visiting at the home of A. S. Harrison this week.
W. R. Hewitt, consulting engineer of the shipbuilding company, is in Portland on business for his company.
H. F. McCormick and J. H. Price were in Astoria Wednesday looking over the two steamers which are being built there for the McCormick people.
The St. Helens band will be out Saturday evening and will play for the new Moose lodge to be instituted that evening.
J. C. Palmer, social service secretary of the Portland Y. M. C. A., will conduct all the services of the Congregational church Sunday, June 18. He will sing the beautiful solo, "The Penitent," at the evening service. Mr. Palmer will also occupy the pulpit on June 25.
Mrs. F. Erickson of Portland, was down Sunday visiting her husband, Fred Erickson, one of the foremen at the shipyard. She was accompanied by her two children. As soon as Mr. Erickson can obtain a suitable residence he expects to move his family to St. Helens.
Theodore Berg left Sunday for Spokane, where he goes to accept a position with some quarry concern. Teddy is an expert blockmaker and will surely give satisfaction to his employers. His family will remain on the ranch for the present, as Mr. Berg expects to be absent only a few months.
Farmer M. F. Hazen left some splendid specimens of strawberries at this office the other day. They were the largest we have noticed in this market. Seven of them placed side by side measured just one foot. He also left some freak potatoes. One had a potato growing on the inside with about half of it exposed. The other had various runners with small potatoes growing on the ends. They were quite a curiosity and attracted considerable attention.
H. L. Davenport, temporary manager of the local exchange of the Pacific States Telephone & Telegraph Company, in an effort to further increase the efficiency of the service, has employed Miss Jessie Womack, an experienced operator of Rainier. Miss Womack and Miss Edrie LeBare are in charge of the board with Miss Dorothy Johns as sub-operator. Mr. Davenport states he is making every effort to give satisfactory service and in a few days his patrons will have no cause for complaint.
Mr. Elliott, one of the pioneers of the Nehalem valley, who resides near Pittsburg, was in St. Helens Tuesday. He called at Harrison's store, where he traded twenty-three years ago. In those days when only trails led across the mountains, Mr. Elliott brought butter to this market on ox back, for which he received 20 cents for a two-pound roll. Eggs brought 8 cents. Wool was also brought in on ox back.
The annual school election of school District No. 2 will be held on the 19th inst. Much interest is being taken in this election and as to whom will succeed Mr. Hattan. The Mist has heard rumors of L. R. Rutherford being put up to fill the vacancy, and also mention of several other persons who seem to be in a receptive mood. It is also rumored that Chas. Graham will soon leave for California, and if this is true it will leave another vacancy and at the same time make C. C. Cassatt the chairman of the board.

Mme. Petrova

Mrs. Martin White received word this week of the death of her brother, M. S. Litch, which occurred June 6, at Medicine Hat, Alberta.
Mrs. T. C. Watts of Reuben, sent us in a stalk of clover which measures just exactly 40 inches in length. It was found growing in a fence corner among the weeds. Who says that clover can't be raised in Columbia county?

J. A. Von Eyth, who has been here for the past several weeks organizing the St. Helens lodge of the Loyal Order of Moose, says F. J. Ratliff, the national director, accompanied by twenty or more members of the Portland lodge, will be here Saturday night for the purpose of organizing the lodge, the City Hall having been secured for that purpose. The St. Helens band will furnish music for the occasion. The charter list has almost 150 names.

WHAT WILL PEOPLE SAY

A photo drama based on Rupert Hughes' famous story dealing with the problem of answering the call "of heart" or "of wealth." A girl desperately in love with one, marries another because of his wealth. She later discovers her husband accepting the love of his former mistress. The girl decides that she has the right to accept the love offered her from the one she turned aside. But what will the people say? How the husband discovers her; how he, becoming maddened with jealousy, attempts to murder her and how love finally wins out is graphically portrayed in this absorbing photo play.

STREETS AND ROADS TO BE OILED

Judge Hattan and the county commissioners have promised that they will bring the county oiling machine down from Scappoose in the very near future and oil the county road which runs through St. Helens. While it is here, the city will hire the machine from the county and oil the streets. After the job is done, the oiler will be sent to Rainier for use there. It is hoped that neither the city or county officials will procrastinate in the oiling as the present is a far better time than if they waited for September, which, in previous instances, has been the case. We need the work done now.

THE STORY

John Montgomery, prodigal, loses his fortune to Rood, a gambler, and becomes infatuated with Carlotta, an adventuress, with whom Rood is in love. One morning, while passing Rood's gambling house, Ellie Fenwick, a girl who has awakened in John a desire to redeem himself, hears the sound of a shot. The next instant Rood falls dead thru the swinging door of the barroom entrance, and John follows with a smoking pistol in his hand. Ellie is forced to be a witness in the trial that convicts John of murder. John's escape and how Ellie secures a confession from Carlotta, in which she narrowly escapes death, are intensely interesting. The sequel you can guess.
